

The International Foundation for Telemetry
Author's Agreement

I, the undersigned author of written materials submitted to the International Foundation for Telemetry ("IFT"), hereby grant to IFT the right to reproduce, publish, distribute and sell all or part of these written materials and to make derivative works of such materials, and to authorize others to do any of the foregoing. This right includes the right to reproduce, distribute, publish and sell all or part of such materials and derivative works thereof in electronic media, including interactive electronic media, and any other media now known or hereafter discovered except that the reproduction, distribution, publishing or sale of such material may not be done for profit.

I certify that the written materials submitted are original, have not been published, and are not currently under consideration for publication by any organization other than the IFT except that the inclusion of previously published materials that provide a foundation or basis for the development of the original materials is permitted.

I certify that the written materials are UNCLASSIFIED and have been cleared and approved for public release by the appropriate company and/or government agencies.

I certify that my written materials do not infringe any copyrights. I agree to include written permission from copyright owners to reproduce any copyrighted materials I submit to IFT and that such permission will extend to both print and electronic media.

I further grant to IFT and its licensees the right to use my name, likeness, and biographical and other information concerning me for advertising and promotion of IFT functions in any printed or other media.

I further acknowledge that the written material will form a part of a conference compendium which will also be protected by a compilation copyright and agree that the IFT, as holder of the compilation copyright, will control all distributions of this compendium.
